If you haven't, now is the time to sign up to exhibit at the CooperatorEvents Fall New York Coop/Condo Expo on November 18th @ The Jacob Javits Center NYC.

We in the New York building management business, along with our valued service providers, know that this very popular building management Expo has been drawing thousands of managers, board members, and property owners since its launch over 30 years ago.

As an exhibitor you would have multiple opportunities to position your company's products and services. You will be face-to-face with interested, motivated decision-makers who come to the show with open minds, lots of questions, and the power to engage in an environment hyper-conducive to making connections and doing business.
